PERSONAL.

Rev. M. M. Binfort, agent for the American Bible Society, favored us with a call yesterday. He will be in town some days and investigate what can be done in the work of evangelizing in New Mexico.

Tom Moore, the boss barber of Trinidad, was down yesterday and got the barbers in the new town on a regular old fashioned jamboree, last night.

Rev. Gale and wife of Silver City were among the arrivals by train yesterday. They went south in company with Rev. Harwood.

Mariano Perez of Bernalillo is in town. He and wife are at Brookside cottage.

Now Conklin, honor bright, did you ride home on a pass furnished you by Conductor Maddux. If you did wind up that big walk in this manner, out with it. Walking matches, eastward are frauds but did we ever think you a loveable Heosler, would introduce such a thing away out here among us straight folks.

On my honor as a man I did not accept a pass. I worked my way back. I drove team, fed the mules, built fires, stole poles from a fence for wood, cooked, and at San Jose skirmished around for grub. Conductor Maddux really appeared to consider me a first class cook and general purpose man. And beside that what are you squealing about? I don't like to walk and always intended to ride if opportunity offered. The trip over the mountain was made on foot only because there were no burro trains running.

A life policy for $1,000—how little it costs every year, how much it would be worth in case of the father's death! What sunshine it would make in his own heart, during each one of the three hundred and sixty-five days, to know that so much was secured, and secured by his own love and forethought! It is no longer an experiment, but a demonstrated fact, that a small outlay every year in a life policy secures, from the date of the first payment, an amount, in case of death, that no other form of investment even pretends to give for the same amount of money, in many years. To insure at once in a good company, is to be safe; any other course is hazardous.

The New York Life Insurance Co. for which Mr. Sager of our city is agent is without doubt the best and strongest company in the world.

Shooting Scrape.

Yesterday Garnard Lee rode his horse into the Western Meat Market. Lee was drunk and the clerk, Mr. Bell, took hold of the horse and lead him out. Lee became enraged and pulled out his six-shooter, as though he was going to shoot Mr. B. Stoops, the proprietor, who was cutting meat at the counter. Bell caught the pistol and forced it down, when it went off. Lee rode off over the hill west of town. The ball was found on the ground, flattened, and it is thought that it must have passed through Lee's thigh; but he rode off in such a hurry that it could not be certainly known, and at this writing has not been heard from.

Before going to the meat market he had been making a raid. He first began in the new town and after running it until satisfied came over the river and went through a series of drunken exercises on the plaza. He stopped an ox team three times on the plaza. He had a hand cart, hawling it about on horseback, and finally finding a two horse wagon on the street; took one of the horses by the bit and lead the team down in front of the meat market and then turned it loose to make the grand entry described above.

Just what the day police was doing all this time is unknown. One report is to the effect that he had run them off the plaza. Another rumor was that they were organizing a force sufficient to arrest a bad man. It may be necessary to say that they did not arrest Mr. Stoops because he was not shot by Lee.

A gentleman who saw Lee's performance thinks that the shooting was accidental and that, seeing he had made himself a little too numerous took the opportunity to get out of town.

The WEEKLY GAZETTE of to-day contains a full report of the conclusion of the trial of the men arrested for robbing the train, beside a number of interesting articles. It contains more local news than any other paper published in the territory. Persons wishing to inform their friends in the East of the real condition of affairs in this territory should send them the WEEKLY GAZETTE. On sale at the news stands and at this office.

Securing his Costs.

Thursday evening a young man named Marshal when settling his bill at the Parker House had a dispute with K. P. Brown and invited him out doors. On getting out Marshal drew a pistol and stuck it in Brown's face. Brown returned to the office but could not get a pistol. Later in the evening some one had Marshal arrested and taken before Justice Neal in the new town who after hearing the evidence complimented both parties on their good looks and genteel appearance and advised them to divide the costs which done the case was dismissed.
